TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Fr S. Edwin Savundranayagam Ph.D. (Gregorian University, Rome) has been on the teaching staff of the Good Shepherd College, the regional major seminary for the New Guinea Mainland, situated in the Archdiocese of Mt Hagen, during the academic year 1997.

He has taught Metaphysics, Philosophy of the Human Person (Philosophical Anthropology), and the entire stretch of History of Philosophy.

He was an effective teacher, highly appreciated by his students. In the first term he assisted the students in their research and preparation for a Symposium of the Great Trio of Greek philosophy. The symposium was a great success, and motivated the students in their philosophical studies. In the third term, in the context of Philosophy of the Human Person, the students under his inspiration held a debate on the theory of evolution. This also was very well received.

I highly recommend Fr Edwin as a teacher of philosophy in any major seminary.
